Re: Company Law International

The team at Company Law International, headed by Ilana Martin, have proved themselves indispensable for valuable legal advice and implementation of our statutory compliance.

Their approach to corporate governance has resulted in us being totally compliant without administrative obstacles. This also allows them to complete the ad hoc negotiation of legal matters and drafting of legal documents to an expert standard.

The advice received and their assistance in drawing up and negotiating on key personnel employment contracts achieved the stated aims within our commercial framework.

They have also played a key role in winding down the company prior to entering into a Members Voluntary liquidation, which has encompassed extensive guidance on the accounts, a group audit and lengthy negotiations over surrender of the company's leasehold property resulting in savings to the business. As part of the registration they even managed to educate the Land Registry on their own rules for exemptions from Stamp Duty Land Tax!!
